

Contact:

Caprice Lawless, Co-President, Colo. Conference, AAUP
capriceaaup@gmail.com
Umesh Pakalapti, National Representative, AFT
upakalap@aft.org

URGENT RSVP

Dear Colorado Conference Member:

We need to keep higher education in the Public Employee Collective Bargaining Act!

It is in danger of being excluded from it!! March 21st is our day to come to Denver to protect it.

AAUP & AFT National Presidents Irene Mulvey and Randi Weingarten (pictured at left) will be with us!!

They know this is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to build power and right the wrongs.

Our AAUP and AFT National Reps who have been lobbying for us in Denver tell us they need as many as we can gather to meet at the Capitol Monday morning, March 21. When we get there, we will be told what to do to press this lawmaker or that one to keep higher education in the bill. Our hard work for the last decade faces a D-Day of sort that morning. Some of you have asked to be notified of the key moment when your presence would have the most impact. The morning of March 21 is that moment. It is THE time.

PLEASE RSVP to the AAUP/AAUP event organizers (see Contact list above). Please give them your phone # in your reply so they can text us with details and logistics. We do not need to write speeches or research anything; we only need to be present and be willing to chat briefly with lawmakers one-on-one as we will be directed to do.

WHO: All higher education faculty who need collective bargaining

WHAT: AAUP and AFT full-court press with lawmakers

WHEN: Monday, March 21, 9:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.

WHERE: Colorado State Capitol; Colfax & Broadway in Denver

WHY: To keep higher education in the 2022 PECB Act

HOW: Our presence is beautiful and has undeniable power